ArcSoft ShowBiz 5 Review: A Free Video Editing Software with Reliability Concerns The demo version of ArcSoft ShowBiz 5 is free, while the full version requires a subscription, raising questions about its value given its reliability issues. If developers address these concerns, ArcSoft ShowBiz has the potential to be an excellent choice for users' multimedia needs. Occasionally, I create video tutorials showcasing computer demonstrations and upload them to my YouTube channel. While there are other tools that can help me achieve this, I wish I could do everything in one place. To run Showbiz 5, you'll need an operating system like Windows XP (with SP2 or SP3), Windows Vista x86/x64, or Windows 7 x86/x64. The software also requires at least 3 GB of RAM, a Core 2 Duo E4400 2.0GHz or faster processor, and a VGA card with 128MB graphics memory. You'll need around 400 MB of free space on your hard drive. As for giveaways, I've been asked if I'd like to host one here on my blog, offering three licenses of Showbiz 5. If you're interested in winning your own license, please leave a comment and let me know. I'll also do my best to answer any questions you might have about how the software works.
